Security Consulting Services

Securi-Tech Solutions offers a broad range of Security Consulting Services which are designed to aid our clients in the evaluation and decision process of implementing a security solution. The answers to what kind of solution is right for your situation may not be so obvious. This is why our expert consultants have the experience and knowledge to evaluate, analyze, and advise as to the appropriate course of action.

Our process begins with a thorough evaluation of your current security situation. This review and analysis takes into account the physical security infrastructure, the identification and evaluation of specific security risks and threats, an analysis and review of current security procedures, and the identification of the strengths and weaknesses of your entire security platform. We communicate our findings to you in a comprehensive analysis report. Then, we issue formal recommendations as to the various improvements we believe will enhance the security of your premises and your people.

To take it another step further; Securi-Tech can provide you with Project Management Services which are a compliment to our Consulting Services. As your dedicated Project Management Team, we can assist in the execution and delivery of the recommended solutions by coordinating and managing the entire implementation of the project.

Typically our clients retain our consulting services for a period of time until the assignment is complete. Systems Installation & Integration

Our core focus is on the physical installation and integration of security systems. Our expertise comes from years of experience in working with the industry's most sophisticated technology. It takes knowledge, talent, and a thorough understanding of technology in order to properly install and integrate these types of systems. We employ master-level technicians who are certified and licensed in the practice of security integration. All our technicians go through extensive training before we allow them to work in the field.

Whether we're installing a few cameras and a basic digital-video-recorder (DVR), or an enterprise level video security system with hundreds of cameras, multiple servers, and monitoring stations; or a simple two-door access kit, to two-hundred doors networked and integrated into multiple supporting systems, the level of expertise, professionalism, and service that Securi-Tech brings to the table never changes.

Securi-Tech can design, install, and integrate more complex security infrastructure including Guard Stations, Command and Control Rooms, and Intrusion Detection systems. The most important aspect of our ability to successfully integrate any project is our attention to detail, technical knowledge, and experience at executing each project with exacting precision.

Service & Maintenance

Of course, any type of technically complex system will require a degree of service and maintenance from time-to-time. Your security system is no different. Securi-Tech can implement a preventative service and maintenance program which will ensure your security system performs optimally and reliably at all times.

We define the service parameters based on the scope of your system, then, we implement regularly scheduled service appointments to check, repair, upgrade, and maintain your critical security infrastructure.
